Reading the Tea Leaves

Getting Started

- What accounts are booking your hotel (BT & Group)?
- What accounts are booking your comp set(s)?
- What is the production (over time) for each account (five years)?
- Do the facts align with your “beliefs”?

Bucket Each Account – Your Perspective

- Critical Partner – Losing this account will create huge gaps in performance
- Fill the Gaps – Customers that help close gaps. Losing too many of these will impact revenues
- A Surprise – You get a bit of a thrill when you see them show up on the rate report

Bucket Each Account – Customer Perspective

CUSTOMER'S
→ PERCEPTION ←
IS YOUR REALITY.'

- Trusted Partner – This means your hotel captures the lion's share of their business in the market. You are their go to hotel.
- Casual Escort – Your hotel is secondary for their business. Most likely they use you when their Trusted Partner is unavailable.
- Last Resort – Your hotel is who they use whenever no one else is available.

Bring it All Together

KNOWLAND

- Thankless Task - Use for accounts with a defined preference that doesn't match your property.
- Major Project – Use for accounts with a defined preference that matches your property.
- Target Range – Use for accounts with less defined specific buying behaviors.
- Quick Wins – Use for accounts buying properties exactly like yours that don't show a significant preference for a single one.

Rise of the Sales Generalist

- Who will you bring back?
- Cross-functional sellers rule
- Book & cook needs to be a thing of the past
- Sellers and servicers need to have clearly defined roles
- Protect the seller's time

Don't discount!
